

Resources for tutors to help with remote learning

Burlington English

- An online learning platform for basic and ESL students. Lesson plans are available for tutors to use remotely with students as well as practice lessons that students can use on their own time. Contact Rebecca Moll at Rebecca.m@oaklandliteracy.com to enroll your student today.

News articles written at an intermediate level:

- News for You Online: A weekly publication for adult learners that uses current event articles and human-interest stories to engage learners' interest while building skills in reading, comprehension, and vocabulary. Use the courtesy password 22667F through April 30, 2020, to access News for You Online at <https://www.newreaderspress.com/news-for-you-online>
- Voice of America. Students can also download the Voice of America Learning English app on their smartphones through the App store to listen to audio recordings of news stories. <https://www.voanews.com/>

Downloadable lesson plans

- Literacy Minnesota has developed lesson plans that are free and easy to download on a variety of topics, from managing finances to reading maps. https://www.literacymn.org/educator-resources?format%5B883%5D=883&sort_bef_combine=title%20ASC
- Intermediate and advanced-level lesson plans related to health and the coronavirus are being curated on Oakland Literacy Council's website under Tutor Tools. <http://www.oaklandliteracy.com/lesson-plans-for-remote-learning/>

Listening Activities

- Randall's Cyber Listening Lab has recorded conversations organized by level of difficulty along with vocab to teach and online comprehension questions: www.esl-lab.com
- 42 Minutes of Listening Comprehension Questions for students at an intermediate-level are available at: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=isMpyCkKuDU>